California Great Fire

(6) Rising from the ashes

The wildfires are still burning in parts of the Palisades and Eaton areas of Los Angeles, California, have now damaged or destroyed more than 17,000 structures, with an average insured loss per structure of an estimated $1.9 million. Basically, wildfires occur very often in California, therefore the insurance fees are increasing. Some people thought that they are too expensive and stopped the insurance and thus led to great loss.

Los Angeles is the largest city of West Coast and the second largest city of US. Therefore it attracted people from Asia more than 2 centuries. Quite a number of officials from Asia fled to Los Angeles bringing large amount of cash and hide them in their home. Some of them are treasure of arts which cannot be valued in terms of money. Hollywood is famous for celebrities and a lot of movie stars and wealthy people live over there. So the actual cost is hard to evaluate.

There are also two famous Great Fire in history, which was Great Fire of London in 1666 and Great Fire of Chicago in 1871. Now London is the second largest financial center of the world and Chicago is the second largest finance center in US. According to Chinese Geomancy, great fire only burnt prosperous land and all bad things were burnt by heaven and everything can re-start again from the ashes.

Phoenix will rise from ashes.

Governor Newsom is one of the cores of WOKE where he led California to the current situation. Trump is unable to turn California from a blue state to red state. It is still republican but can be awaken from the WOKE during the re-construction process. The stock market also turned from pessimistic to optimistic under the Great Fire. This topic ends here and tomorrow we will start another topic of Donald Trump Era 2.0 in World Observation.

Some people say the market is quite high now, is it worthwhile to buy? When you think it's too risky, better buy the top 10, top 15 or top 20 of the world, for they are all of actual power and no others can be more powerful than they are.

The Magnificent 7, 8, 9, 10

Today is the second day of Trump Era, he turned on a new page for US and the world. The US stock market is aim at breaking another record high soon. Which stocks should buy first now and which should buy later becomes the hottest topic instead of should we buy or sell now.

Apple is still has the largest capital in the world. However, the sales business faces a lot of adversities. The i-phones are hard to have any breakthrough as in the last decade, but the cost of chips are going up for they are upgraded incessantly. When Apple and Tesla established their factories in China, ultimately the nourished local brands of Huawei in mobile and BYDDY of e-cars. Even if the production line is moving to India and Vietnam, next decade they will also have their own local brands as competitors. When trade war between China and US occurs, Apple and Tesla would face a lot of hindrances. But Tesla is developing their Robot and Full Self Driving to overcome them. Apple is the first company that gone above the total market value of 3 Trillion, and Tesla is believe the first one that reaches 4 Trillion.

When you believe that this year the market can reach 6000 points of S&P can buy in now. But if you think it too risky to chase high, can buy the Magnificent Seven (MAGS) which is an ETF of those 7 stocks (AAPL, NVDA, MSFT, GOOG, AMZN, META and TSLA). Since it occupies 52% of NASDAQ 100, therefore the chart is quite similar to QQQ, but if you compare it stick by stick, there is still some difference. So can use MAGS for medium term and QQQ for long term.

AVGO has already surpassed TSM among the top 10, the former is said to be one of the Magnificent 8 soon. TSM will be included in Magnificent 9. Don't forget the PLTR which will be the magnificent 10. PLTR is famous for the capture of Bin Laden, nowadays IT data are important, but still need a platform and analysis. During the capture of Bin Laden, they monitor numerous mobile phone conversations. Bin Laden is clever and never uses mobile. He would only ask his messenger to carry verbal messages to the outside world. How did PLTR detect it? They found there was a phone always turned off but only turned on in a small town on the border of Pakistan and thus the CIA followed that person which was a messenger of Bin Laden. Details were recorded in the Bullion Express of the writer. The total market value of PLTR is expected to reach 1 Trillion soon.

Some conservative buyers asked can they buy the AMD now for it has dropped a lot and now rebounds with the whole market. Mind that in the short term chart, the fall seemed finished, but when viewing the long term chart of 3 years or 8 years, still some room for falling. So even if buying in, should mind the ratio. That is 1 to 3 or 4 when comparing with NVDA or TSLA. When you buy 1 stock of AMD should buy at least 3 or 4 stocks of NVDA or TSLA. But if you buy TSM can be 1 to 1 with the NVDA or TSLA, for TSM is known as the NVDA of tomorrow. AMD now ranks 70 among the world cannot compare with the top 10.

So when buying other stocks are the same, those that out of top 50 should have a ratio of 1 to 3 or 4 when comparing with the top 10. When you have worries, can be even in the ratio of 2 to 1. That is when you can buy 2 stocks of AVGO and then 1 stock of NVDA or TSLA if you think the latter are too high or too risky. Anyway, always place your concentration among the top 10 or top 15 is no wrong. However, PLTR is an exception, even if it ranks 83 now, but will be soon listed among the Magnificent 10.
