US entered into war, even AI forecast it would affect oil price, but actually a black candlestick occurred.
Why? Why? Why? Because it is an exceptional case.

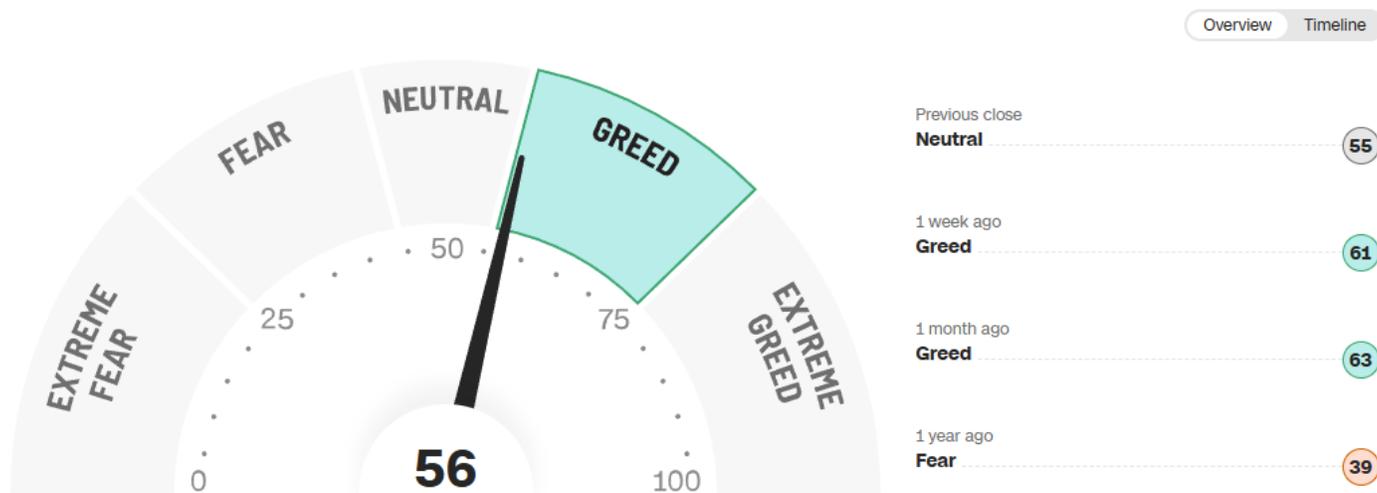

US/Iranian War has broken out. Gold price has not soared up, just going horizontally,
Why? Why? Why? Because it is an exceptional case.

North East West South is NEWS

The 193 member states of the United Nations (UN) will mark the signing of the UN Charter in San Francisco on the 26th. The UN Charter was ratified on June 26, 1945, and the UN was officially established on October 24 of the same year. But now people question whether he can prevent the outbreak of nuclear war.

On the eve of the Hague summit, NATO member states today agreed to significantly increase the target of defense spending to 5% of gross domestic product (GDP), while Spain said it does not need to comply with this target.

According to a spokesman for German Chancellor Friedrich Merz, Merz called for a quick resumption of diplomatic dialogue after the United States launched an attack on three Iranian nuclear facilities.

The US military launched air strikes on three Iranian nuclear facilities last weekend. Reuters quoted US officials as saying that the United States assessed that Iran may retaliate within one or two days at the earliest, and Washington is still seeking a diplomatic solution.

US President Trump insisted today that the US air strike destroyed Iranian nuclear facilities, while other officials cautiously said that the extent of the damage was still unclear. "The worst damage is happening deep underground. It hits the bullseye!" he said.

World Observation

Day 1217
Russia/Ukraine Conflict

Sanction or Action

Midnight Hammer of Donald Trump is a successful military action, but it's somewhat controversial. It is not a war, for the declaration of war needs to be passed by congress, such as the 9/11 terror attack and Pearl Harbor attack. They are officially passed by the joint meeting of House and Senate to declare war. The Operation Desert Storm in 1991 against Iraq is a war in name of UN force, and US just carry out the resolution of UN. But if it is a military action like capture of Bin Laden, it must be kept secret or else Laden would flee away.

The highest leader of US military force is the president and not the congress. If a military action is over 90 days, it must be passed by congress to declare war, or else the congress has the right not to grant the budget, but no right to call back the force except the president. All army, navy and air force are under the order of president. This is the point of US, but how about the UN?

The establishment of UN is not to use any military action to solve problem especially to change the state of borderline. That is no one is allow to start a war or invade other countries unless passed by the Security Council of UN. Or else UN has the right to act as international police, but if 1 out of 5 Great Power of UN cast a veto, UN cannot do anything.

UN cannot stop the military action of Russia in Ukraine even lasted 1217 days. Various kinds of sanction has been carrying out for years but the war still carries on. Even there is sanction of chips, they can transfer to 3rd, 4th or 5th countries or even more before reaching the target place or even establish factories overseas. UN has no power to carry out the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons of 1968. Does it mean 8 billion people on earth are watching UN unable to stop nuclear war without any action for more than half a century? The answer my friend, is not blowing in the wind, watch the market response on next page please.

Market Observation

Exceptional Case

WTI
US$73.15
XAU
US$3386

As said on Jun 17th (Tue), now the market is in an exceptional case.

Even AI warned there will be high oil price if US enters into war, it may rise up to $150 or even $200, but please refer to the chart of page one, there is a big black candlestick in the oil chart and not stock chart. Gold price goes horizontally and not rocketing up on the edge of nuclear war. There is no panic selling in stock market.

Instead CRCL is on record high again, for people knew that celebrities like Catherine Wood (Goddess of Stocks) had already earned a lot from it.

Mind that traditional weapons stocks fell, like RTX dropped 0.286%, but LMT rose 1.854%. Already said now focus should be on DXYZ, it rose 8.108%, more than 3 major indexes.

Semiconductors stocks also rose like AMD 1.716% and don't forget Cathy's ARKW, it's on record high again. The response of market is in congratulation of stopping a nuclear war.

As said on Jun 17th (Tue), the highest level of analysis is to find out when will exceptional case occurs.
