Decisive week for SPCX and market

As for the outlook of the market for the second half of this year, will this week or next week be more decisive? Yesterday the writer listed out the adjustment of major investment banks for the target of 2026. Why suddenly so many people are having their review of the whole year? It is simply that most of their targets for the year 2026 had been fulfilled, people requested them to have further outlook, whether the future should be still bullish or will turn bearish. It is on request for investors, not because they found some problem in their forecasts.

As for S&P weekly chart, it broke the definition of the Fibonacci series of 1,1,2,3,5,8. It did not turn back on the 9th week, instead it turned back on the 10th week, but followed by 11th week, and now touched the 10-SMA which is quite near the Fibonacci series. As in the daily chart, it has already refilled the jumping gap and will use the 50-SMA as support.

The Cypher effect of SPCX for IPO can last for 4 days of this week, but on Friday, a large amount of frozen funds will be released to the market. It is said 4 times of the fund is frozen now which means all of them will be released to the market. Is it good news or bad news?

Basically, for an IPO of the US stock market, the first several days are of large ups and downs, and suitable for day trade only. A lot of retailed investors originally wished to have short term investment but unluckily forced to become long-term for they chase high and touch the top.

For the war in Iran, the fragile ceasefire is broken. The US used 49 Tomahawk missiles to attack Iran including 2 dams. It's in retaliation for the Apache helicopter being shot down. Again, the pilot and weapon officer are saved even though the Iran speed boats and submarine are so near and more, but the US non-manned vehicle found them first, as previously, the F-15 was down, hundreds of search dogs in Iran could not find them in the mountains and were saved by US rescue members. Trump started the fighting because of face; Iran also wants to show the world that Hormuz is still controlled by them.

If the US wished to bomb Iran back to stage age, should be done within a week and not from Feb 28 to Jun 12 still saying. They have the power but they dare not to do so. Even Iran's military force is said to be destroyed 90%, by only 1% or 0.5% can control the Hormuz Strait. Now the US has won the war by destroying 90% of the enemy, but the actual winner is Iran, for the Hormuz Strait is really under their control and the whole world has to pay a passing fee to them. It is against international Law and the High Sea Convention! It is against rules and regulations of the United Nations, but no one can do anything.

How to solve this? Firepower is Justice!

No need to take out philosophical ideas of Socrates, Plato and Aristotle, Tomahawk is justice! Iran directly phoned to the US situation room to talk with Trump, it is the first direct talk of them, amidst the bombardment and not before or after. Market treated the broken ceasefire as good news and started direct peace talks for Iran and the US.

As the Summer Solstice (Jun 21) is coming, a peace agreement between Iran and the US will be signed, reader can trace back the idea of the writer which was disclosed more than half a year ago, that is in November. Long-term readers of The Express should know it, please search on your own. It's so easy to find the answer with the help of AI.
